Hundreds of candles were lit by Laura Dechaine's Grade 12 students in remembrance of the men and women who served in Canada's armed forces during war and peacetime, their families and friends who were impacted by their absence, and the innocent civilians who suffered and died as the result of the conflicts. The candles glowed on tables at the front of the F. G. Miller High School auditorium as students took part in the revamped program at the school's annual Remembrance Day observances last Thursday.

FGM lights candles in remembrance

A solemn and beautiful candlelight vigil last Thursday at F. G. Miller High School remembered not only the sacrifice of those who served our country in the armed forces during two World Wars, the Korean war and conflicts and peacekeeping missions of more recent years, but also paid tribute to their families and friends, the civilians whose lives were torn apart by war, and the importance of peace.

Tables banked with rows of softly flickering candles and a single spotlight on a backdrop spelling out "Lest we forget" in poppy-bordered letters were the only illumination as FGM's Grade 12 students ushered the students in lower grades to their seats, Aaron Lines' song, "Somebody's Son" playing softly in the background.

Alex Buck opened the proceedings with the story of Lt. Col. Charles Murell's bravery during the Dieppe raid in August, 1942, where he was taken prisoner.

"We must remember the sacrifices. We must remember the freedoms we enjoy because of those sacrifices. We must remember the reasons to maintain peace," he concluded.

Teacher Danielle Erickson sang O Canada before mistresses of ceremonies Nikki Marsh and Cathy Olstad asked World War II veteran Ralph Riemer to stand. Laura Dechaine's Grade 12 class expressed their thanks for his attendance.

Members of the class had interviewed several local veterans, and video clips of those visits gave insight into their experiences.

"War is hell, and should be stopped..."

"There were no individuals. It all involved teamwork..."

The camera zoomed in on one veteran's identification card, which showed he had served for 30 years in the regular forces after joining in 1939, 15 of those in the ranks.

"I started at the bottom. There was no privacy whatever."

The veterans spoke of wartime service abroad and closer to home.

"One of the good things was that we were serving our country. It takes a certain kind of individual to bear the brunt of it..."

"My comrade got hit by a cluster bomb. He was lucky he lived. He was only yards away from me, and it could have been me. They sent in a helicopter to get him and flew him to a hospital in Japan..."

Extravaganza to feature added attractions

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

New events and the most prizes ever are on track for Elk Point's Christmas Extravaganza on Friday, Nov. 28.

Instead of one major prize, the organizing committee agreed to give even more shoppers a good chance to win. Tickets distributed to shoppers on Nov. 28 will qualify entrants for a chance to win one of two trips for two on the Snow Train to Jasper, one of four pairs of tickets to the Elk Point Community Choir's 2009 dinner theatre presentation of "Charley's Aunt," one of two pairs of tickets to The Legends of Country Music on April 4 at the new Allied Arts Centre, tickets for two to the Danny Hooper Special on April 23 or a shopping spree at the Elk Point Co-op. Committee chair Sandy Smith says more prizes could still be added to the list.

The Snow Train packages include three nights accommodation along with the relaxed scenic journey aboard the legendary Canadian to the famous mountain resort, where the winners can enjoy a variety of winter activities.

Children's games provided by Jack and Jill Playschool, outdoor skating west of Apple Drugs, and a Turkey Toss at the Elk Point curling rink, sponsored by Elk Point 4-H Multi Club, have all been added to the program. Free hot chocolate will be served at both at ATB Financial, which is the site of the photos with Santa, and at Trinkets and Treasures, where there will also be a hot dog sale, an additional bonfire and a second stop for the horse drawn wagons. Bonfires will also be located on Main Street near Rona, near the Extravaganza stage in the Servus Credit Union parking lot and near the children's activities, between TD Canada Trust and Apple Drugs.

Dee Pankiw, who organized the spectacular Canada Day Idol show for July 1, has come on board to assist with the entertainment portion of the show, and hopes to have a wide variety of performers in the lineup.

Horse-drawn wagon rides will feature the same three drivers as last year, and all three wagons will have security personnel on board once again.

Information about Extravaganza has been distributed to businesses and organizations throughout the area, and the organizers are hoping to have a good response in the form of the donations that make Extravaganza possible each year. Businesses and groups are also being encouraged to take part in the Winter Wonderland Parade that has become a colourful and exciting part of Elk Point's signature pre-Christmas

"I knew Morse code like another language, I got so fast at it. I didn't go overseas with the First Division. They sent me to Yellowknife. There were 27 stations across the Northwest Territories and Yukon and we had to build our own station there. There was a mine there of the ore they used to make atomic bombs with. It was the only place they had that metal, and they sent it into the States. We knew it was some kind of explosive but not that it was the source of the atomic bomb... Today they're criticizing (the Americans) for dropping atomic bombs, but the Japanese military were very cruel. They had a mine where they worked prisoners of war to death."

"November 11 is just another day for a lot of people. They get the day off and they do whatever..."

Five students filed onstage, each lighting a candle as they took their place in the lineup. Nicole Kalynchuk's candle was "for families, who lost their loved ones to the wars."

Tyson Bristow's was "for friends, lost to us forever."

Corey Smereka's was "for soldiers, committed to their country."

Marisa Bader's was "for civilians, may we meet again."

The fifth and largest candle was lit by Andrea Lee, "for peace."

The history of the poppy as a symbol of remembrance was related by Brittany Bzowy and Abby Garrett, who said that Flanders, France was the scene of the most concentrated fighting in World War I. All natural life was destroyed, but the poppies survived, becoming a symbol of hope.

Robyn Ockerman recited "In Flanders Fields," and Aaron Jurak read "A Letter Home."

Tears came to many eyes in response to the Miley Cyrus hit, "I Miss You, Daddy," which gave a young child's perspective on the loss of her father.

Facts and figures on the World Wars were followed by the conclusion that, "we still live in a war zone. We have not ended war ... What we have to remember is that in all wars, innocent people are lost on both sides... we are all sufferers."

Randall Kryz sang an a capella version of "Lay me down in the cold, cold ground," setting the mood for Alex Buck's reading of a letter from a 17-year-old Jew who wrote and concealed the letter to his brother in an internment camp before he was taken away from his home in Budapest to be machine gunned and thrown into a common grave.

"I would have liked to live," the letter said. "There is no hope. They make no exceptions. Now it is my turn. I hope you survive us."

Marisa Bader read "60 Seconds" before Kryz came back on stage to play "The Last Post," and after the respectful moments of silence, "Reveille."

The students were left with a parting plea, "please remember never to forget peace," as they were ushered quietly out of the auditorium, with Kryz singing "The Mansions of the Lord" in the background.

MCs Nikki Marsh and Cathy Olstad pause in silence as Randall Kryz plays "The Last Post."

Chamber learns more about going green

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Andy Veil, a power system electrician with 24 years experience in power line construction who now works with alternative energy sources visited Elk Point Chamber of Commerce at their Nov. 5 meeting. The area resident strongly believes in the use of solar and wind power and has built a home that gets all its electricity from these two sources, with a generator for backup.

"You have to work backwards when you're dealing with alternative energy," he advised the chamber. "You've got to know your end use, and go from there." The power required to operate appliances and electrical equipment is listed and totaled, he said, in order to determine how much power must be produced to run them.

"I don't do geothermal (heating)," Veil said. "When you do, it's like a refrigerator in reverse, and you need power to run it. I haven't seen a solar system that would do that. It's better to spend your money on radiant heating."

Veil cautioned the chamber that, "eco, solar and green mean a lot of things, but it doesn't mean that it's feasible. It's gong to cost you money."

Heating Veil's home cost him $100 for natural gas in the coldest month last winter, "and if you were on the (power) grid, you'd pay $100 a month for operating and maintenance even if you were not using any power."

If you're off the grid, "the first thing you do is to learn to be eco friendly, to reduce and reuse. We have no well. We collect rainwater. That's eco. We supplement our natural gas heating with solar heat tubes. Even if you start out on the grid, you can reduce your power and gas bills to zero." He suggested that if the eco center is hooked to the town water supply, one way to be eco friendly is to collect grey water from sinks and use it for flushing and for heating.

Economic Development Officer Bob Bezpalko said the information the chamber received from Veil "opens up a lot of opportunities for us to leave less of a carbon footprint."

Town Coun. Dwayne Yaremkevich agreed that the chamber "has to use the eco stuff to the max."

Town manager Myron Goyan "had envisioned being totally eco," but realized, "it's not possible in a commercial building."

"Maybe we should approach the suppliers (of solar and wind power equipment) to see what the prices would be if we showcase their products," suggested Aaron Knopp.

Veil said he had approached some of his suppliers in that regard on one of his other projects, and "we can definitely ask," although he noted that some are relatively new businesses and may not find it economically possible to do this.

"The next step is to determine what we want to do," Mircea Panciuk added. "The more information we get, the better."

Adolph Porcina noted that the chamber has "deviated from the original railway station into a lot of different things. Is this plan compatible? There's a lot we have to consider."

Veil agreed to sit down with the chamber's building committee to discuss their needs and the feasibility of the project.

The chamber also heard an update on plans for the Friday, Nov. 28 Christmas Extravaganza. This year's event offers some new and exciting prizes along with added events, including children's games and a 4-H Turkey Toss.

EDITORIAL

Remember this

Each year, the number of veterans in attendance at Remembrance Day observances across our nation is growing smaller. The veterans from World War I have virtually all gone to their final reward, and even the youngest men and women who signed up in the last months of World War II are in their eighties. All too soon, they too will have left us forever.

Canada does have some veterans of the Korean war, and of course the Gulf War and more recent conflicts. For some of these veterans, the tragedies and horrors of war are still too fresh, and they are reluctant to talk about it, just as many of their predecessors were about their time spent on the battlefields. These armed forces personnel saw, heard and felt things we cannot even imagine, and only time will dull their pain to the point where they are willing to share these experiences with us.

In the meantime, the torch is ours to hold high, as it says in the words of John McCrae's famous poem. We must remember the stories we do hear, the statistics of lives lost and lives put on hold in prison camps, of families torn apart by war, and of the necessity of holding on to peace so the horrors of war do not come any closer.

Our students are doing a fine job of holding the torch high, and we commend them for their efforts.

GUEST COLUMN

Lest we forget

From the Sunday, Nov. 2 Telegraph Article from today's UK wires, with the title of "Salute to brave and modest nation," Kevin Myers writes some very interesting thoughts about the Canadians.

"Until the deaths of Canadian soldiers killed in Afghanistan, probably almost no one outside their home country had been aware that Canadian troops are deployed in the region. And as always, Canada will bury its dead, just as the rest of the world, as always will forget its sacrifice, just as it always forgets nearly everything Canada ever does. It seems that Canada's historic mission is to come to the selfless aid both of its friends and of complete strangers, and then, once the crisis is over, to be well and truly ignored.

Canada is the perpetual wallflower that stands on the edge of the hall, waiting for someone to come and ask her for a dance. A fire breaks out she risks life and limb to rescue her fellow dance-goers, and suffers serious injuries. But when the hall is repaired and the dancing resumes, there is Canada, the wallflower still, while those she once helped glamorously cavort across the floor, blithely neglecting her yet again. That is the price Canada pays for sharing the North American continent with the United States, and for being a selfless friend of Britain in two global conflicts.

For much of the 20th century, Canada was torn in two different directions. It seemed to be a part of the old world, yet had an address in the new one, and that divided identity ensured that it never fully got the gratitude it deserved. Yet its purely voluntary contribution to the cause of freedom in two world wars was perhaps the greatest of any democracy. Almost 10% of Canada's entire population of seven million people served in the armed forces during the First World War, and nearly 60,000 died. The great allied victories of 1918 were spearheaded by Canadian troops, perhaps the most capable soldiers in the entire British order of battle.

Canada was repaid for its enormous sacrifice by downright neglect, its unique contribution to victory being absorbed into the popular memory as somehow or other the work of the 'British.' The Second World War provided a re-run. The Canadian navy began the war with a half dozen vessels, and ended up policing nearly half of the Atlantic against U-boat attack. More than 120 Canadian warships participated in the Normandy landings, during which 15,000 Canadian soldiers went ashore on D-Day alone. Canada finished the war with third-largest navy and the fourth largest air force in the world. The world thanked Canada with the same sublime indifference as it had the previous time.

Canadian soldiers in the past half century have been the greatest peacekeepers on earth - in 39 missions on UN mandates, and six on non-UN peacekeeping duties, from Vietnam to East Timor, from Sinai to Bosnia. Rather like Cyrano de Bergerac, Canada repeatedly does honourable things for honourable motives, but instead of being thanked for it, it remains something of a figure of fun. It is the Canadian way, for which Canadians should be proud, yet such honour comes at a high cost. This past year more grieving Canadian families knew that cost all too tragically well.

The about editorial is a wonderful tribute to those who choose to serve their country and the world in our quiet Canadian way. To us of the younger generation, when you think about it, we actually know men and women who are involved in the armed forces today. So therefore, we will be watching this people who will be growing older and yes they will be the veterans we will know of. Let us remember them.

F. G. Miller High School's Grade 12 students made a plea for lasting peace as they remembered the supreme sacrifice made by so many men and women on behalf of their country with this candlelit display at their Remembrance Day observances last week.

Lieutenant Colonel John McCrae, a Canadian Army doctor, proved the link between the poppy and the battlefields of Flanders and wrote his famous poem "In Flanders Fields".

The Cutting Edge

Will we be hiring people in the area?
Will we bring more money to the community? Will we be boiling or frying the perogies?

Residents of the Lakeland area are encouraged to take part in Osum's Town Hall Meeting. This open discussion about our new Taiga Project will take place on Wednesday, December 3rd from 4:30pm to 8:30pm at the Harbour View Community Centre in Cold Lake. A buffet-style dinner will be served. Come prepared with lots of questions and we'll answer them to the best of our ability. To learn more, visit www.osumcorp.com/conversations.

Big year upcoming for senior athletes

By PAUL BOISVERT
Alberta Senior Citizens
Sports and Recreation
Association

2009 will be a banner year for members of Alberta 55 Plus who reside in Zone 7. Two major province wide competitions will be held. The 2009 Alberta 55 Plus Winter Games will see more than 1200 Albertans come together for competitions in Lethbridge on February 19-22. Then on July 23-26, Airdrie will host the 2009 Alberta 55 Plus Summer Games.

The playoff schedule to select the Lakeland team for the 13 activities that make-up the Winter Games begin on November 10th with the duplicate bridge playoff. To get the full schedule, interested participants should contact their area representative or the Zone 7 Activity Director, Eva Podlosky at 780-645-3531 or by e-mail at epodlo1@telus.net.

The ice curling playoff will take place at the St. Paul Curling Club on December 13 & 14. With the addition of a 65+ age category for mixed curlers, there will be competition in six different categories, 55+ and 65+ women, men and mixed. As in all other activities, there is no participant fee charged as the zone picks up the costs of the facility rental. All participants must have a valid membership in Alberta 55 Plus and these will be available at the playoffs. In keeping with all Alberta 55 Plus ice curling events, each team is limited to two games per day if required. We also want to advise participants that the minimum ages that apply to each category are as of December 31, 2009.

For more information or to register for the curling playoffs, contact Paul Boisvert at 780-645-3409 or by e-mail at HAWKOWL4@telus.net. The deadline for registrations is December 8.

We would like to remind all persons interested in being a participant at the 2009 Alberta 55 Plus Winter Games, that the same subsidy package that includes bussing, accommodation and meals will be available for these games as they are for the Summer Games.

Activities that are part of the 2009 Winter Games are: Alpine Skiing, Euchre, Badminton, Hockey, 5-pin Bowling, Scrabble, Duplicate Bridge, Table Shuffleboard, Carpet Bowling, Snooker, Cross-Country Skiing, Table Tennis and Ice Curling.

Proclamation

Diabetes Awareness Month / World Diabetes Day

As diabetes has reached epidemic proportions, the Canadian Diabetes Association is helping Canadians learn more about the prevention and management of this serious disease, and is raising awareness for the Association's role in Canadian diabetes research, education, service and advocacy. Diabetes Awareness Month is designed to inform the public about the seriousness of diabetes and the complications experienced by an estimated 150,000 Albertans who live with the disease.

WHEREAS: Over 2,250,000 Canadians have diabetes. Diabetes is a cardiovascular disease. Closely related, heart disease and diabetes share many risk factors and prevention strategies;

WHEREAS: The Canadian Diabetes Association is focusing public attention on the need to increase awareness of the seriousness of diabetes and raise awareness among Canadians that diabetes is serious;

WHEREAS: The United Nations General Assembly has designated Nov. 14 as

World Diabetes Day

in order to raise public awareness of diabetes;

THEREFORE: I hereby proclaim the month of November 2008 as

Diabetes Awareness Month

in the Town of Elk Point.

Seniors get timely tips on fraud prevention

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Elk Point and area seniors had the opportunity to learn about fraud prevention last week, when the RCMP-supported Wise Owls anti-fraud presentation came to the Seniors' Recreation Centre. The program educates seniors about various frauds used to part innocent people from their money.

RCMP Alberta Media Relations reports that in 2007, Canadians lost $19,015,755.45 due to marketing fraud. This type of fraud, along with identity theft and debit or bankcard fraud, is growing across North America. The Wise Owl program warns Albertans about the dangers of giving out bank information, credit card numbers or even confirming a telephone number or address to anyone, especially telemarketers or telephone solicitors.

Inspector Yvon deChamplain, officer in charge of RCMP Commercial Crime Section at "K" Division in Edmonton, says, "the Wise Owls program was designed to educate our elderly population on issues like identity theft, frauds, scams and other crimes that target this sector of our population. The program recruits seniors to actually help in the education program, enabling our seniors to learn from qualified presenters and their peers."

Some of the tips to avoiding fraud include:

N Report any suspicious calls.

N Don't be afraid to say "no" to phone solicitors, as they rely on people being too polite to hang up.

N Do not make instant decisions to purchase from solicitors suggesting, "you must decide now!" Take time and do your research.

N If an offer seems too good to be true, it is probably a scam.

N To report a scam, call Phonebusters at 1-888-495-8501 or e-mail www.phonebusters.com

Regarding fraud, seniors are urged to "Recognize it. Report it. Stop it."

What Alberta livestock producers need to know about...

Alberta Farm Recovery Plan (AFRP) II Benefit Requirements

As part of the Alberta government's plan to assist the livestock industry, a second benefit to producers will be available in early 2009.

To receive the second benefit, all livestock producers and feedlots should meet the following new requirements:

Livestock producers - By January 1, 2009:

- You will need to update your current premises identification information or apply for a new premises identification number if you don't have one.
- A new application form will be mailed to you only if you received the first AFRP II benefit.
- The application will include a declaration and authorization for Agricultural Financial Services Corporation (AFSC) and Alberta Agriculture and Rural Development (ARD) to verify your information. Your information will be kept private and protected.

Cow-calf producers - By January 1, 2009:

- Age verify your 2008 calf crop by entering birth dates for all calves born in 2008 in the CCIA database. Additional assistance will be available to help you enter birth dates in the system.

Feedlot operators - Starting January 1, 2009:

- Beginning January 1, 2009, all feedlots will be required to record animals as they arrive and report cattle move-in information to the CCIA within seven days.
- The CCIA tag number for each animal arriving and leaving the feedlot (not going to slaughter) must be reported to the CCIA within seven days.

Forms will be available at all AFSC and ARD offices throughout Alberta. If you have questions or need assistance, please contact the Ag-Info Centre at 310-FARM or on-line at www.agric.gov.ab.ca.

Last Wednesday was moving day for this new home which arrived by truck and was lifted into place with great precision by a gigantic crane. Former chamber of commerce president Steve Srdic owns the home, which is located along Railway Avenue, and says he plans to locate another of the movable homes next door, on a lot where a decrepit commercial building was recently demolished.

Grain prices decline with markets

By DON PATTERSON
Review contributor

The effects of Wall Street's financial crisis are being felt in farmers' fields as grain prices that were riding high this spring are now on the decline.

Darcy Haley, vice-president of Ag Value Brokers, said investors don't want to put their money into commodities while the economy slows.

"How much the credit crisis has involved with grain is quite a bit because nobody wants to own a commodity anymore, where a year ago, that's all they wanted to do," he said.

Six months ago, Haley said the cash price for barley in Lethbridge was $245 per tonne and is $180 at present. Meanwhile, he said a bushel of feed wheat was $310 per tonne and is now $195.

Farmers who locked in at the higher prices will do well, said Haley. However, the vast majority didn't, he added.

Haley said other factors contributed to the drop.

A shortage caused wheat prices to skyrocket in the spring, global markets responded and farmers around the world planted wheat.

"They grew wheat and it's turning out to be a better crop than we've seen in probably the last four years," he said.

The U.S. dollar has also rebounded and the country's corn crop is looking like it will turn out much better than was thought this spring and countries such as Australia, Russia and the Ukraine won't have to hoard their grain.

Bob Macgillivray of graintrade.com Inc., said it will still be a good year for farmers despite the financial crisis.

"The markets haven't dropped that far," he added.

Macgillivray said the decline is only a blip on the radar and the commodity markets will rebound because demand has nowhere to go but up.

"There are 50 million people annually moving into the middle class in China and India. I don't think the dip is going to hold. I see long-term strength in crop production."

Province helps age verify cattle

AGRI-NEWS

More than 30 additional staff from Alberta Agriculture and Rural Development (ARD) and 30 part-time staff from Livestock Identification Services (LIS) are now available to assist producers in age verifying their 2008 calf crop.

"Alberta faces intense competition in the domestic and international marketplace for livestock products," said George Groeneveld, Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development. "Age verification is a key component of the Alberta Livestock and Meat Strategy and key to accessing markets. Together with LIS and the Canadian Cattle Identification Agency (CCIA), I am pleased to be able to reinforce government's commitment to both our producers and to reinvigorating this important industry."

The addition of dedicated ARD staff supports the Government of Alberta's commitment to assist producers with the traceability requirements under the Alberta Farm Recovery Plan (AFRP) II announced in June. Under the plan, all producers must update or apply for a premise ID number by December 31. Primary producers must also enter animal birth date information for their entire 2008 calf crop into CCIA database by the same deadline.

"LIS will be assigning 30 additional staff part-time to assist with age verification," said David Moss, Chief Operating Officer of LIS. "We welcome this opportunity to assist producers in age verifying their 2008 calf crop and have provided training to over 30 LIS staff across the province to provide this service."

The additional staff from both ARD and LIS, who have recently completed comprehensive training by CCIA's mobile field representatives, are available immediately to producers who require assistance entering their age verification information. Assistance is provided over the phone or in person. Interested producers can contact the Ag-Info Centre, toll free at 310-FARM, for their closest field representative.

LIS is an industry owned not-for-profit company that is committed to providing a broad range of valued services to the livestock industry in Alberta.

The Alberta Livestock and Meat Strategy and its initiatives are part of the Government of Alberta's plan to help industry obtain a competitive and sustainable future.

Award-winning author to visit

By VICKI BROOKER
Staff Writer

Mary-Ann Kirkby, author of "I Am a Hutterite," the 2007 Best Non-Fiction award winner at the Saskatchewan Book Awards will be visiting St. Paul and Elk Point later this month as part of a tour of Northern Lights Library System member libraries.

Kirkby's self-published book was also short-listed for the Best First Book.

"I Am a Hutterite" tells of Kirkby's childhood on a Hutterite colony in southern Manitoba, and of the challenges she and her family faced in leaving community life. Overnight, the parents and their seven children were thrust into a world they didn't understand, and that didn't understand them.

Leaving behind the 500-year history and rich traditions of the Hutterite culture was difficult for the whole family. Kirkby was 10 years old when the family left the colony, and she had never eaten macaroni and cheese, ridden a bike or heard of Walt Disney or rock-and-roll. Desperate to be accepted in her new surroundings, she found she had to deny her heritage to fit in to the outside world.

Kirkby's book is a rare glimpse at life on a Hutterite colony, and of the intolerance he family faced when they left the tight-knit community.

The public will have the opportunity to hear Kirkby read from her book at St. Paul Municipal Library on Saturday, Nov. 22 at 2 p.m. and at Northern Lights Library System headquarters in Elk Point on Wednesday, Nov. 16 at 7 p.m.

Remembrance Day program tomorrow

Elk Point and district will once again join together to commemorate the sacrifice made by all the men and women who have served our country in two World Wars, the Korean War, and in the conflicts and peacekeeping missions of more recent years.

A parade of organizations and individuals will leave the Senior's Recreation Centre at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow to march to the Cenotaph for the outdoor portion of the program, including the singing of O Canada, the placing of wreaths and the singing of God Save the Queen.

The crowd will then return to the Seniors' Centre for the playing of the Last Post, the two minutes of silent remembrance and Reveille, followed by a short program of messages from government officials, a guest speaker from CFB Wainwright, music by the Christian Community Church choir and a message from Pastor Bill Kryzanowski.

Elk Point Pioneer Circle Seniors will serve a light lunch at the conclusion of the program.

What you need to know about ## paying your 2008 Alberta health care premiums

Payments and registration. Keep them both current.

Albertans will no longer be billed for new health care premiums in 2009, however, premium payments owing to December 31, 2008, remain in effect. This means that Albertans must continue to pay 2008 premiums or, if applying for new coverage, register and pay the required premiums.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE FOR PAYING 2008 HEALTH CARE PREMIUMS?

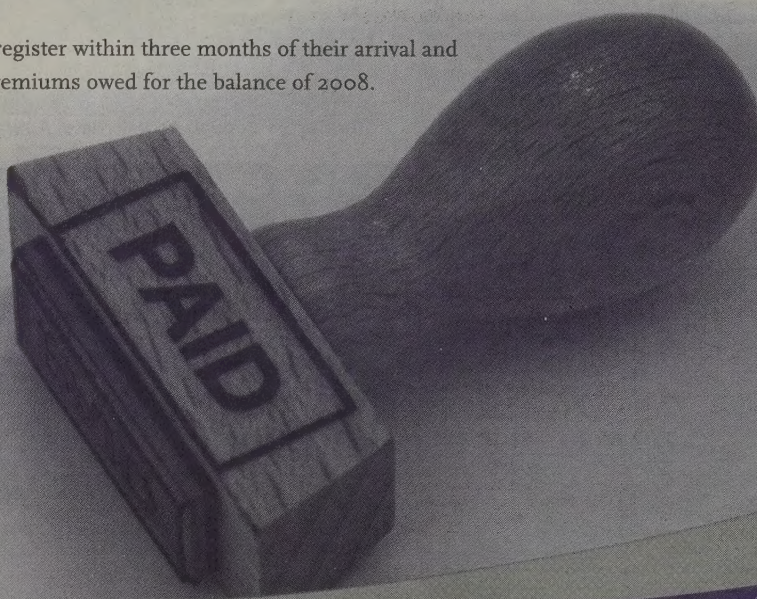

- All Albertans unless they qualify for premium assistance, government-sponsored income support programs, or are senior citizens.
- Employers and benefit administrators who collect and/or remit premiums on behalf of their employees.
- New Albertans who have registered for the Alberta Health Care Insurance Plan.

Alberta Health and Wellness will be collecting premiums beyond December 31 until all outstanding premiums are paid and will continue to pursue those collections. As well, those who are paying Alberta Blue Cross Non-group insurance premiums, or other supplemental health premiums, will continue to pay in 2009 as those premiums will remain in effect.

KEEP YOUR HEALTH RECORDS CURRENT AND REGISTER.

- If you have had a change in name, address, dependants or marital status, please notify Alberta Health and Wellness.
- New arrivals are required to register within three months of their arrival and will be responsible for any premiums owed for the balance of 2008.
